

GLENDALE COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION EDITION

MORALS OF GLENDALE

CITY IS ONE OF THE BEST BEHAVED COMMUNITIES IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

"Glendale has always had the reputation of being a moral community," said Judge Whomes to a representative of the Glendale Evening News. "When I came here from Redondo Beach, where I had been recorder for some time, I was struck by the difference between the two cities. In Redondo on Monday morning there would always be a pitiable string of bedraggled human beings who had been arrested for being intoxicated on Saturday night. They would be fined $5 each and dismissed. I used to pity the wretched families that had to await the return of the fathers or the mothers that waited the return of their sons. Unless we locked them up, in which case the families would suffer, what could we do? The law ordained their punishment.

"Coming to Glendale I found matters very considerably better. Here there is a very high community moral sense. This is entirely apart from any creed or affiliation of any kind. People of all kinds in Glendale stand for what is highest in morals and manners. They are truly religious people who desire to create here a community where righteousness shall flourish and evil shall be eliminated. This is to be seen in everyday intercourse. The mind of the people of this city is toward what is highest in civic life and in everyday morals. The consequence is that it is very difficult for evil of any kind to flourish here. On account of this community feeling evil becomes at once conspicuous.

"I found this in my court at once. Crime has never been prevalent in Glendale. My court has been occupied with a great many trivial matters and at one time when the fines for auto speeding came to the city's treasury the greater number of cases were speeding cases. This was profitable for the city and occasioned a great deal of work for this court.

"Since the auto speeding cases no more come here in the numbers to which we were accustomed, the court is chiefly occupied with cases of a trivial nature. Serious crime is absent. Occasionally there is a case of minor assault which calls for a moderate fine; but on the whole the community is peaceable. It is an ideal place in which to bring up children. Here are none of those sights and sounds that poison the minds of children going to and coming from school in larger cities. There is a chance for the growing and developing soul to grow up clean and unstained by evil suggestion of any kind. This is a great deal to say of any city.

"During the past two months crime in Glendale has been unusually low. In fact, what cases did come before this court were of a very trivial kind. In March there were only about six cases altogether. In April there were fewer even than that. This month I have had to deal with only two cases and both of them were juvenile court affairs. I try to settle these matters if possible without certifying the parties concerned to the juvenile court, if it can be avoided.

"I am positive that no community in Southern California enjoys a cleaner social and community life than Glendale, and it is a pleasure to me to see such affairs as the recent Flower Show, where so much that is praiseworthy in civic life was gathered together, and to behold the clean and courteous community that gathered there. It is the same at such affairs as that given by the High School alumni Thursday and Friday nights this week. It would be difficult to find a community of young people more full of genius and talent of all kinds than that which assembled in the Palace-Grand, both on and off the stage, on those two nights. In every way Glendale, always a moral city, is improving, and I believe that its growth and advance is largely due to the spirit of unity that prevails here."

BURGLARS AT WORK

Complaint was made to the police Friday that burglars had entered the home of Mrs. O. E. Selze, 824 S. Central avenue. Entrance to the house was obtained by means of a passkey. A suitcase and a leopard skin rug were stolen.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

DISCUSSES MANY MATTERS OF CIVIC INTEREST AT MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce building, 1011 West Broadway, Friday evening, May 12, 1916. J. W. Usilton, president of the chamber, presided and R. M. Jackson, secretary, was present, performing the duties of his office. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read by the secretary and approved. Under the heading of communications the secretary read a letter from Dr. Royce, president of the Glendale-Tropico Poultry association asking that the chamber of commerce contribute money for the next annual show of the association. On motion the communication was ordered placed on file with the understanding that action would be taken at the proper time.

A communication was read from the city of Covina inviting the Glendale chamber of commerce to be represented at the laying of the cornerstone of the Masonic orphans' home.

The following letter from J. S. Roberts, superintendent of the eighth division of railway mail service of the postoffice department was read and adopted.

April 15, 1916.

Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Glendale, Cal.

Dear Sir: Having recently been appointed division superintendent of the railway mail service and being desirous of familiarizing myself with conditions in the various cities I take this opportunity of addressing this inquiry to you concerning the postal needs of your city.

The mails are the pulse of trade and the business of any community is aided and assisted by its transportation and mail facilities. It is therefore evident that full use must be made of them to enable business men to compete for trade and to foster local industries. It is a well-known fact that commercial organizations are nearest in touch with these matters in the locality in which they are interested and it is to them that I would appeal for aid and suggestions for postal improvements and efficiency.

I have therefore to request that you communicate to me from time to time such information as may come to your knowledge to enable me to keep in touch with your requirements and to take such action as will best serve your needs. I cannot guarantee to always secure improvements where increased expenditures are involved, for such expenditures are limited by congressional appropriations and it is necessary to operate the service within the appropriations, but I will undertake to secure maximum efficiency in the employment of available facilities in the branch of the service under my supervision. This is your business, you are vitally interested in it, and I feel certain that I may count upon your co-operation and assistance.

Very respectfully,

J. S. ROBERTS,

Superintendent.

The following resolution which had been prepared by J. W. Usilton, president, was read and adopted: To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, Gentlemen:

WHEREAS, there are within the County of Los Angeles many cities and municipalities through which main county highways run;

WHEREAS, there is a policy in practice by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County whereby appropriations are made from the general county fund for the purpose of road construction and maintenance;

WHEREAS, all of the automobile license tax refunded by the state is in the hands of the Supervisors for road construction and maintenance;

WHEREAS, the cities and municipalities of Los Angeles County pay approximately 85% of the county taxes, and the owners of automobiles within cities and municipalities of the county pay the greater part of the tax received from automobile licenses;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce that the Supervisors of Los Angeles County be requested to make a classification of all through and leading highways in the county, as distinguished from city streets proper; and to provide from the general fund (Continued on Page 4)

KAISER TO PUNISH SUBMARINE COMMANDER

DESTROYER OF SUSSEX TO SUFFER FOR MISREPRESENTATIONS MADE OF THE CHANNEL BOAT CASE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

THE HAGUE, May 13.—The submarine commander who was responsible for the sinking of the Sussex will be severely punished on his return to Germany, it is stated here on non-official authority from Berlin. It is added that there is strong indignation all over Germany against the commander for having used arts to deceive the German naval authorities as to the identity of the vessel he sank. In his reports he stated that the vessel was not the Sussex. The German authorities and public implicitly believed his statements until the evidence collected by the United States showed plainly that he was lying. The Germans feel greatly humiliated over the affair.

GERMAN ATTACK ON VERDUN FRONT

TEUTON ASSAULTS IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF THIAUMONT REPULSED WITH GREAT SLAUGHTER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, May 13.—It was officially stated here today that the Germans launched another fierce attack this morning in the direction of Thiaumont. The Teutons were repulsed at all points with great slaughter. Toward the west of the Meuse the French took advantage of the slackening of the German attack to launch counter attacks; in one of these they captured Hill 287. The battle is raging incessantly near Avocourt. The Germans seem determined to do something to stop French activity in order that they may be able to release more men for the attack on the British lines at Hulloch.

ASQUITH ORDERS SUSPECTS RELEASED

BRITISH PREMIER TRIES TO MITIGATE SEVERITY OF MARTIAL LAW IN IRELAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, May 13.—Premier Asquith today ordered the immediate release of a number of Dublin citizens belonging to the better classes of society who were arrested at the time of the riots on suspicion of participation in the rebellion. The situation is still disaffected. Arrests and deportations occur every day and are arousing widespread indignation. Considerable stupidity is shown by the military authorities in these arrests as many of them are of innocent people.

VILLA REPORTED TO HAVE NEW BAND

MEXICAN BANDIT SAID TO BE ON RANCH NEAR CARIISO WITH 100 MEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NAMQUIPA, May 13.—Villa is reported to be on a ranch near Cariiso, with 100 men. Cariiso is about twenty miles northwest of La Asuncion. It is stated that the Mexican bandit recruited his new followers in the province of Sonora. The report has aroused much interest at the headquarters of the American troops, where a chance to capture Villa would be welcomed. The men are eager to get on the trail of the Mexican.

REV. MADISON SLAUGHTER FOUND GUILTY

OROVILLE JURY BRINGS IN VERDICT OF "GUILTY" IN CLERICAL SCANDAL CASE

OROVILLE, Cal., May 13.—After having been locked up all night and apparently disagreeing the jury in the case of the Rev. Madison Slaughter brought in a verdict of "guilty," at 10 o'clock this morning. Slaughter was accused of having had improper relations with Gertrude Lamson, a 15-year-old girl, whom he had befriended and whom he had received into his house when she was destitute.

BERLIN CROWDS RIOTING IN STREETS

GERMAN MILITARY STERNLY SUPPRESSES DEMONSTRATION AGAINST MEAT EMBARGO

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

BERLIN, May 13.—Serious food riots occurred here today. Large crowds surged around the meat shops and demanded food. They finally attacked the stores, breaking into the supplies. The government's stringent rules limiting the purchase of meat have exasperated the people.

PACKER'S CANDIDACY

GLENDALE'S CANDIDATE FOR SUPERVISOR IS TAKING LEAD OF RIVALS

EDITOR NEWS:

Three months or more ago a few Glendale citizens, realizing the importance of having a representative on the Board of Supervisors of the county (a chance that comes only once in four years) and taking a forward look to the campaign which we are now in the midst of, selected a Glendale citizen to put forward for that responsible position. They felt that it was essential to begin the campaign early in order that other possible candidates might have full knowledge of a candidacy affecting their own ambitions and that voters in general should begin early to center their efforts about one man and not waste their potentiality by scattering political work.

In order to show that the people were back of the man selected, a petition was put in circulation and in a remarkably short time there were appended to the request to Mr. Stephen C. Packer to become candidate, the names of about 2,000 citizens of Glendale and vicinity. On this petition are the names of people in every walk of life, professional, mercantile, mechanical and plain every-day citizens. Several Glendale ministers are among the signers and a more representative petition of the people at large was never presented to a candidate. Mr. Packer was selected by those who knew him because they believed in him heartily as a man fitted by character and experience for the place. Among his earliest supporters there were representatives of at least three political parties, Mr. Packer himself being a straight Republican, but sensibly realizing the fact that the office he aspires to is non-political. Since the petition was started Mr. Packer and his friends have done effective work in all parts of the large district he aspires to represent and in every section he has strong support, particularly in the San Fernando valley, so that it may be stated without fear of contradiction by any one familiar with the facts, that he is today far in the lead of all other candidates.

The object of this statement by the undersigned is to emphasize the fact that Glendale has a candidate for this position, a candidate selected because of his fitness for the place and for his availability. This statement seems made necessary at this time because of the fact that cards are being circulated in this section asking voters to pledge themselves to vote for a candidate who resides at South Pasadena.

The retiring supervisor, Mr. Pridham, is a resident of South Pasadena, and no criticism can attach to the residents of that little city for desiring to hold on to a good thing, but it is inconceivable that Glendale citizens in any considerable number can be sufficiently ignorant of existing political conditions as to unselfishly desire to aid South Pasadena in its purely selfish effort. South Pasadena has had the supervisor for eight years; for eight years previously the incumbent lived in Highland Park and for eight years before that time he was an East Los Angeles man. Does anybody believe that that locality having had a super-

CHEWING THE RAG

MRS. NANNO WOODS URGES LESS TALK AND MORE ACTION

By NANNO WOODS

Everybody knows the meaning of the expression, chewing the rag. It is easy to chew the rag. It is easy to talk and talk and keep on talking about everything under the sun, easy to kick and growl and grouch, easy to criticize, easy to loudly disapprove of the government, the army, the navy, the taxation, the city trustees; easy to comment caustically upon the actions of others and to deplore loquaciously the tendency to this, that and the other wrong. A careful observer walking through the streets or visiting the stores, offices and homes of our city will notice much chewing of the rag. But chewing the rag will never get anyone anywhere. Would it not be wise to quit chewing and start doing? How much real thought lies behind (Continued on Page 8)

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH GROWTH

The report of the Glendale Presbyterian church which is to be reported this coming week at the General Assembly at Atlantic City will contain many items of interest which show remarkable growth, and puts the local organization in some cases far ahead of the large churches of Los Angeles presbytery. Following is the standing of the seven largest churches relative to gifts by the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies which gives the Glendale church the fourth place: Immanuel $5799.68, Pasadena $5291.75, Highland Park $2219.50, Glendale $1233.66, San Diego $1003.50, West Adams $920.18, Long Beach $912.25.

In Sabbath school enrollment the Glendale church stands fifth with Pasadena 950, Immanuel 826, San Diego 787, Santa Ana 740, Glendale 538, Long Beach 489, Highland Park 463, West Adams 361.

In point of membership Glendale stands eighth. Relative membership as follows: Immanuel, Pasadena, San Diego, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Highland Park, West Adams, Glendale. Perhaps the most significant fact is that Glendale stands fourth in gain in membership during the year. The following is the gain recorded by the eight largest churches: Immanuel 445, Pasadena 177, San Diego 111, Glendale 109, Long Beach 106, Santa Ana 91, West Adams 46, Highland Park 37. Money raised for current expenses, exclusive of new buildings, shows Glendale standing eighth. Amounts of the nine largest churches are as follows: Immanuel $32,300, Pasadena $29,800, San Diego $17,900, Long Beach $14,700, West Adams $11,300, Highland Park $8,100, Hollywood $8,000, Glendale $6,600, Santa Ana, $6,500.

The Glendale church, which was built only five years ago, is already overcrowded, and the whole matter of enlargements, or rebuilding, is an important matter which the church officers are facing, and for the purpose of considering this fact, a general meeting of the Boards is called for Friday evening, May 26.

visor for twenty-four years, need continue in the succession forever? Is not the San Fernando valley of sufficient importance to some time be represented on the ruling body of the county? And as the chief center of population in the San Fernando valley, is it not logical that Glendale should have the naming of this representative?

In time past Glendale has been unwise enough to fail in support of local candidates for county offices, but must we continue to follow a bad precedent? Never before has a Glendale candidate started out under such fortunate auspices with the support of such a united body of our citizens, and nothing can now defeat Mr. Packer but the thoughtless action of Glendale citizens in giving support to an outsider as against their fellow townsman. The question is one of loyalty to our own, and I am convinced that the attention of our citizens need only be called to this matter to insure their getting behind Mr. Packer's candidacy so unanimously that he will be elected at the primary on August 29th next, without the necessity of his coming before the voters again in the November election.

REMARKABLE HAPPENINGS IN REAL LIFE THAT VIE WITH ANY IN NOVELS

In my newspaper experience of 18 years in Illinois I personally witnessed or knew of at first hand many strange happenings, a recital of a few of which may be of interest to News readers.

My home for nearly 34 years was Marshall, Illinois, seven miles from the "Banks of the Wabash." It was founded about 1835 by Col. Wm. B. Archer, a soldier of 1812, once owner of a large tract of land now in the heart of Chicago, a part of which is Archer avenue, named for him. Marshall is on the old Vincennes to Chicago highway and also on the national road, the great national highway stretching from Wheeling, W. Va., to Vandalia, Illinois, the capital of the Sucker state, when the road was built, 1836 to 1840. This National road is the "Egyptian line," all Illinois south of it being called Egypt from the fact that in the early days when a failure of the corn crop in northern Illinois threatened a famine, farmers of that section went "down into Egypt," paraphrasing the Scriptural account in Genesis, "to buy corn." The old Archer house, a solid brick structure, built in 1841 at the intersection of the Vincennes & Chicago highway with the National road, still stands and is used as a hotel, though under a different name. But now to relate some of the incidents I promised.

A Remarkable Train Wreck

In the late 80's the "Big Four" branch of the New York Central system boasted an exceedingly fast train called the Knickerbocker Special eastbound and the Southwestern Limited westbound. It consisted of three cars only, a combined baggage car and smoker, a ladies' coach and a standard sleeper. I rode on this train from Paris, Ill., to Terre Haute, Ind., one day—that is, I expected to ride that far, but I didn't. We were rushing down the long grade toward St. Mary's, Ind., where the biggest Catholic school in the Central states is located. The speed must have been 60 miles an hour. At a highway crossing a foolish cow meandered on to the track just as the engine got there and the result was startling. The cow was ground to pieces, and the entire train derailed. I was in the front car, which turned half way over on its side and would have plunged down a 20-foot embankment, when the tender jumped off the track on the other side, pulling our car back upright. The tender rolled end over and, finally landing ahead of the engine, which had gone over on its side in a deep pool of water. So suddenly did this all happen that neither the engineer nor fireman left his seat in the cab and both went down under the water, but neither was hurt in the least and they crawled up out of the water and to the bank. As I rushed out of the car I saw the engineer, a tall, gaunt Scotchman, standing by the pool, looking at his partly buried engine. He said to me, "God's hand was in that or we'd never have come out alive from under that engine." Poor fellow, he was killed in a wreck two years later. But was it not remarkable that an engine and three cars going 60 miles an hour could be derailed and damaged thousands of dollars and yet not one of the many passengers or trainmen receive even a scratch?

Did He Deserve Damages?

Wm. Bostwick, a farmer living several miles south of Marshall, drove over one day to Shelbyville, Ind., a small town near Terre Haute. The E. & T. H. railroad passes through it. As Bostwick was driving across the track he failed to see the approaching flyer and was struck by the engine. He was hurled more than 100 feet through the air and his dead body struck a traveling man who was standing on the platform waiting to board a local train, throwing him down and breaking one of his legs. He sued the railroad company for damages, claiming the flyer was running at excessive speed through the city, hence Bostwick was killed and his body hurled against him, the complainant. The courts found against him, however, and he got no damages.

Could It Happen Again?

A Big Four freight train was speeding southward a few miles north of Marshall one day, when a six-foot length of iron culvert pipe was jostled off of a flat car. As the lower end struck a projecting tie the upper end caught the corner of the car, lifting it from the trucks and twisting it to one side. The fourteen cars behind it were derailed and piled in a great heap by the obstruction. Only the caboose remained on the rails and not a soul was hurt. There was only one chance in several million that that piece of pipe could land in the exact position necessary to shoulder a heavily loaded car from the track, but it did happen.

An Unlucky Town

Sandford, Ind., lies half in Vigo Co., Ind., and Edgar Co., Ill. Several years ago the saloons were voted out but a burly citizen named Henry McDonald conducted a blind pig. He was arrested and fined several times, the members of the little Methodist church being very active in prosecuting him. One night the church building was dynamited and nearly destroyed and a little later a drug store was likewise treated. Wm. Dwyer, a Terre Haute detective, was put on the case and he caused the arrest of McDonald, charging him with both crimes. He was confined in jail till his trial. When he was brought before the court for arraignment he suddenly broke away from his two guards, drew a concealed revolver and fired at the prosecuting attorney, who dodged under a table. McDonald then turned the gun on Dwyer, killing him instantly. By this time several policemen who were in the room got busy with their revolvers and pumped lead into McDonald as fast as they could fire. Eight bullets struck him, four penetrating his back and abdomen. He was rushed to a hospital and attending physicians declared his death would occur in a very short time. He swore at them and declared he would live. And live he did though there were four apparently mortal wounds in his body. He was finally brought to trial for murder and given a sentence of from 2 to 14 years in the penitentiary. I think he was pardoned when he had served six years. Little Sandford, however, had not yet filled its cup of woe. One evening a long freight train side tracked there to allow the evening local passenger train to pass. Just as this latter train came to a stop there was a terrific explosion and then awful shrieks and groans rent the air. A car loaded with dynamite had blown up, tearing several freight cars and two passenger cars to bits and injuring 23 passengers, eight of them fatally. Many theories were advanced as to the cause of the explosion, but it yet remains a mystery and probably always will.

RECIPROCITY LOCALLY APPLIED

A few years back Reciprocity was a familiar word and was used considerably on the public platform and in reference to both political campaigns. It is a principle, however, that can be usefully employed in State and local affairs. Let us consider it for a few moments as applied to local affairs. The advancements and accomplishments of a community are measured largely by three things, its schools, its churches and its public press. They attract the newcomer, they enhance the value of real estate, they form the center and basis of permanent growth and future prosperity. No one can successfully deny their value along these lines and the importance of a public recognition and support.

The public school system by compulsory support and compulsory attendance has placed our schools upon a safe and substantial foundation. There are good and sufficient reasons why our churches and public press cannot be similarly supported, but there is every good reason why they should receive a liberal and voluntary support.

In a number of instances level-headed business men have acted as trustees and liberally supported churches because of their value in their community, even though not church members themselves.

Likewise in the case of the public press, every family of Glendale should support their town paper. Not as a charity or as a favor to the publishers, but for their own benefit, the interest of their children, the schools, the churches, the public library, the city trustees, the Board of Health, the Garden society, the temperance cause, the industrial advancement of the city, etc. In short to retain all that is good in Glendale and to acquire in the future anything and everything that will contribute to our mental, moral, physical, financial and spiritual development.

No longer depend upon your neighbor's or your relative's, but subscribe directly for your own copy and have the mental satisfaction of knowing that you are no longer a shirker, but a worker, and in an increased sense a contributor to your town's prosperity. The better informed an individual is regarding his town affairs the better citizen he is, and the way to get information is to read the public press, published in your home town.

WHY WE SAY "DEADHEAD"

Of the many versions of the origin of the word "deadhead," which are current, the following, whether correct or not, is at least the most interesting.

Many years ago the principal avenue of a town passed close to the entrance of a toll road leading to a cemetery. As this cemetery had been laid out some time previous to the construction of the road, it was arranged that all funeral processions should be allowed to pass along the road free of toll.

One day as a well-known physician, who was driving along this road, stopped to pay his toll he observed to the keeper, "Considering the benevolent character of our profession, I think you ought to let us pass free of charge."

"No, no, doctor," said the gatekeeper, "we can't afford that; you send too many deadheads through as it is."

The story traveled around the country and in this way the word "deadhead" eventually came to be applied to those who obtain free seats in places of amusement.

GLENDAL E F O O T H I L L S

Among the recent real estate transactions in this section are the following:

Iva L. Gorham exchanged the large property, No. 1429 Stocker St., improved with a modern 6-room house, and having a depth of 250 feet, with 100 foot frontage on Stocker and Lorraine, for Long Beach property owned by D. A. Townsend, who now is occupying the Casa Verdugo home.

Mrs. Emma Gregory has exchanged and moved from the six-room residence property, No. 1610 Stocker St., into Los Angeles and occupied the place turned over by Gilbert Tuttle.

W. T. Louchs has moved into the modern 6-room bungalow, No. 1601 Dryden street, which he received in exchange from the Hammond Lumber Co. for Long Beach property.

Wm. S. Davenport, an American dentist who has resided many years in Paris, France, enjoying the lucrative practice imputed to American dentists abroad, has purchased an investment, through a brother in Los Angeles, the handsome six-room modern bungalow, No. 1212 Viola avenue.

J. W. Cooper has sold on a cash basis, his handsome Swiss chalet, highly improved grounds, No. 1017 Melrose avenue, to A. J. Freeman and Albert Carr of Los Angeles, two young business men, who, with their wives, have occupied the place as a joint home. Mr. Cooper is a member of the newly established firm of Lynn-Cooper Co., of Glendale, and has occupied an apartment on Hawthorne street, Glendale.

Mr. L. L. Elliott, who is now established in his elegant down-to-the-minute two-story chalet style home on the highly improved large southeast corner of Mountain avenue and Louise street, has sold his late home, southeast corner of Arden and Central avenues, to Mr. Hail, who moved in last week.

Mrs. Edith P. Willson, who sold her home place, No. 1014 Stocker street, to Los Angeles parties who have recently extensively improved and occupied it, has leased the commodious house, No. 1617 Dryden street, and taken possession.

Mr. W. R. Bell, teller in the Bank of Italy, Los Angeles, has moved his family into the cozy home at No. 1620 Ruth street.

Mr. H. H. Ford, son of Mrs. S. D. Montgomery, and a Pacific Electric conductor on the Glendale line, has established a home with his recently acquired bride at No. 1625 Dryden street, an attractive place just modernized and put in the pink of condition.

Mrs. Maria Viohl, mother of Mrs. Chas. H. Saunders of North Brand boulevard, and a bachelor brother, have occupied the dwelling, No. 1657 Ruth street, and are now fully settled.

C. O. Miller and family, late of Los Angeles, are new arrivals within a week, and are established at No. 1648 Ruth street, in the H. F. Cloud property.

Homer Mead, Glendale cement contractor, who has recently completed the cement contract on West 6th street, from Pacific avenue to Grand View road, has leased and occupied the house, No. 1661 Dryden street.

Mrs. J. H. Swaggart is the recent new occupant of the Judd furnished home, No. 1105 San Rafael street.

Mrs. Edith Elrod now occupies the furnished residence, No. 1095 San Rafael avenue, owned by Mrs. Chloe Osborne.

"Cozy Inn," the H. C. Lynn place, No. 1021 Melrose avenue, has been taken by Mr. and Mrs. Mertens of Los Angeles.

Henry J. Olmstead, son Ennis, Grandpa Olmsted and Mrs. Schlichter, who have occupied one of the Kelley furnished bungalows at No. 1121 Melrose avenue, the past six months, left last evening for their home in Colorado Springs, Colo., after an annual winter pilgrimage for many years to Southern California, thus affording broad basis for comparison. Mr. Olmsted affirmed that his enjoyment and experiences this season had never been surpassed, due, he declared, to ideal climatic and scenic surroundings, sweet mountain spring water, pleasant social relations, ideal school facilities for his boy, who improved wonderfully bodily and mentally, and finally, the very enjoyable scenic trolley rides on the Glendale line to and from the city. In order to be sure of same accommodations, he engaged in advance, the same place, at advanced rates, for the return sojourn in October.

In accordance with her custom for many years, Mrs. A. L. Wyckoff, mother of Mrs. N. C. Kelley, of Melrose avenue, returned last week after her six months' sojourn, to her Wisconsin home, accompanied by her son-in-law, T. H. Spence, with whom she resides. Mr. Spence was amazed at the progress of Southern California, since his last visit of some 15 years ago. He was greatly benefited by his three weeks' vacation, and especially enjoyed the rounds of the magnificent golf courses adjacent to Los Angeles.

Mrs. N. C. Kelley has returned from a week's visit with Pasadena friends.

The monthly meeting of the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association was held in the assembly room at 3 p. m. Thursday. There was a good attendance. Various reports were given, including that by Mrs. Florence Kurtz, on the meeting of the District Congress of Mothers, recently held in Los Angeles. Mrs. Kurtz, who is district chairman of Patriotism of the Federated P. T. associations of Southern California, also gave a report along that line. The report of the treasurer showed a good balance on hand.

As features of the entertainment of the meeting, Miss Barbara Krantz gave on the piano, three original compositions. The themes were related to Indian music, the birds, and the winds, and gave evidence of much talent. Miss Mary Young rendered effectively a humorous recitation, entitled, "The Peach Pie."

The following list of officers of the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association was elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Florence Kurtz, president; Mrs. N. C. Kelley, first vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Turner, second vice-president; Mrs. Burr, secretary; Mrs. Harry Duey, treasurer; Mrs. Morgan, historian. As delegates to the Mothers' Congress at Santa Ana, May 24 and 25, Mrs. N. C. Kelley and Mrs. Florence Kurtz were chosen, with Mrs. A. J. Rees and Mrs. Burr as alternates.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miller of 906 Central had the pleasure of entertaining Mrs. Miller's three sisters Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Miles Gregory of Los Angeles and Miss Daphne Pollard, leading comedienne with the Passing Show of 1915, now at the Mason in Los Angeles, and Mrs. G. A. King, a member of the same company. The four sisters very much enjoyed the reunion.

THE BELLOWS KNITTING BAG

New among knitting bags is one of cretonne, cut exactly in the shape of bellows, even to the strap which is usually of leather but, in this case, of the cretonne also. The bag is bound with black silk binding, as is the strap, and is fairly small; its depth allows the knitting needles to stand upright and the ball of worsted is all the bag will comfortably hold. Its chief claim to value is a small brass ring inserted in one side of the bag through which the wool is drawn as it is used; this keeps the ball from slipping out of the bag. This small card accompanies each bag:

"With thread through the eyelet and bag on the arm,

The ball is safe from soil or harm.

In an easy chair my lady lingers,

While the dainty crochet grows under her fingers."

Hark! how the winds have changed their note,

And with warm whispers call thee out!

The frosts are past, the storms are gone,

And backward life at last comes on.

The lofty groves, in express joys,

Reply unto the turtle's voice;

And here, in dust and dirt, oh, here,

The lilies of His love appear.

—Henry Vaughan.

DAFFODILS FOR ROCK GARDENS

A list of some of the daffodils which are suitable for rock gardens may be of value to those who have still a little room for something more, says a writer in The Queen, London. Minimus, which is the smallest trumpet-shaped daffodil, must be given the pride of place, for in no position does it look so well as nestling in little colonies of anything between a dozen and a hundred in sheltered and not too sunny pockets in the rock garden. It only grows three inches high and sometimes not that, so it should have a fairly conspicuous place or its beauties will be lost.

Nanus is one of the most effective of all the pigmy daffodils on account of its deep yellow coloring and shapely form. It is, unfortunately, fastidious in its likes and dislikes, and it is wisest to test its behavior with half a dozen bulbs only before a greater number are bought. I would advise its being planted in light soil among mossy saxifrages or some other low growing plant where it will have to fight with other roots for its living. I say this because two of the places where I have seen it really flourishing have been light-soiled cottage gardens, where it yearly came up among all the entanglement of a none too well cared for mixed border. The true nanus is scarce. Another excellent low-growing variety, lobularis, is called nanus in Holland and this name finds its way into English lists with unfortunate results.

The last variety that I will mention is the very distinct N. citrinus, a pale yellow hoop petticoat daffodil. More than any this and its deep yellow but less hardy counterpart remind one of the old rhyme,

"Daffy-down-dilly has come up to town,

In a yellow petticoat and a green gown."

Citrinus loves damp short grass and damp shaded parts of rock work. In such positions it does well, and ought very soon to show that it is at home by seeding freely every year.

FLEMISH SOUP

Slice five green onions, one head of celery, six large potatoes. Cover with two quarts of water and simmer until tender; put through a sieve and return to the fire. Mix smooth one tablespoon of flour and one cup of milk, add seasoning and chopped parsley, and blend with the vegetables. Pour over slices of hard-boiled egg.

CHINESE EMBROIDERY BAGS

Bits of rich Chinese embroidery are being used to transform the ordinary black silk handbag into a thing of beauty. Decorative panels of the embroidery may be obtained in the oriental shops, and the separate motifs of which they are made, separated and sewed to the black bag in such a way as to follow its general lines. A gay silk tassel is sewed at each side or a single one at the bottom.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

Every community is a family. The individual is the unit of humanity; the family is a collection of individual units and the community is merely a collection of individual families. The laws that govern the individual govern the family. If the individual is divided against himself his life is a failure. If the family is divided against itself it is a failure. If the community is divided against itself it is a failure.

To be successful a community must concentrate all its efforts on its common interests. It must think alike on all subjects of vital communal interest. Its efforts must be directed toward getting the best of everything for itself. What can be done by judicious co-operation can be seen every day in any community. It should be the motto of every community to endeavor to keep its own money earned within its gates circulating in its own center.

Just as every man is known by his works; so every community is known by its doings. No community has ever been successful that has had dissensions in its midst. No community has ever advanced where the motto of the famous "Three Musketeers," "All for one and one for all," was not the guiding principle. A community soon becomes known for its adherence to this principle and it profits by it.

No community can expect to pass by its local merchants and spend its money in some other center and, at the same time, prosper. The merchants of a community and the business men thereof are deserving of support. They represent the pioneer element in any community. Usually they have borne the burden and heat of the long day that has gone to establish any community on its feet and it is only right that they should enjoy the fruits of their labors.

Wherever this community spirit is cultivated a prosperous center grows up. People are contented. They do not go about nourishing grudges against each other. They feel that they are getting their just and natural share of whatever prosperity there is to distribute. As in the old fable of the revolt of the members of the body against the stomach, whom they accused of laziness, and found when they went on strike that they began to fail for lack of nourishment, each member of a community depends on another. One may be the eyes, another the feet, another the hands, another the head, and another the stomach, but all are alike necessary in the economy of the community and one cannot get along without all nor all without one.

This spirit of co-operation gradually produces a marked effect on real estate values in a community. The community that is working as one man for the common good is a community in which it is worth while to dwell. People begin to purchase homes in such a community and property soon rises in value. The influx of new people gradually stimulates business. Money begins to circulate. More building is begun and gradually the city takes on the invaluable air of prosperity.

In such a center, where there is a constant working for the advancement of the civic good; where every agency strives to give the best of its service the service reacts in profit. In seeking the good of the community the individual has found his own personal advancement and profit. Nothing can hold back such a community; its prestige is added to day by day. It gets valuable advertising because it is always doing something worthy of notice and all this adds to the growing value of property in such a center as it comes to be recognized as a desirable place of residence.

eral fund and auto license fund, in the next budget, an appropriation either of funds or materials which may be available to cities and municipalities that will agree to spend at least an equal amount in improving or maintaining such highways within their limits as are determined to be county boulevards.

GLENDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In a communication H. C. Jensen, owner of the Palace Grand theater, offered free advertising space on the curtain to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. It was agreed to accept Mr. Jensen's very liberal offer.

A Mrs. Williams of Los Angeles county, who is contemplating a trip east next fall, has asked for picture slides of prominent places in Glendale. C. H. Bott and J. C. Sherer were appointed a committee to consider the advisability of providing slides as requested.

Dr. C. W. Bachman of 303 W. 9th street, who has been giving considerable attention the past few years to moving picture projects, appeared before the Chamber of Commerce and stated that he and his brother, Dr. O. B. Bachman, have arranged to organize a moving picture company in Glendale. This company will start with a payroll of $2000 per week and give employment to about 30 persons. Dr. Bachman said that his company is not asking for any financial support, but merely wishes the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce. After several short talks had been made complimenting Dr. Bachman for his enterprise and loyalty to Glendale, a motion prevailed that the Chamber of Commerce go on record as favoring the organization of such a company.

M. B. Hartmann, who is chairman of the park committee, gave a lengthy address calling attention to the great need of Glendale having a public park. Mr. Hartmann said that it has been impossible for him to work up any enthusiasm on the question and it really seems that the people of Glendale do not want a park. S. A. Davis, who is one of the original members of the park commission appointed by a citizens' mass meeting almost two years ago, stated that the members of the park commission had gone over the question thoroughly, having interviewed people from various parts of the city, and found that a lack of finances is what stands in the way of securing a park, and so long as present financial conditions exist there is no need of spending time in considering the matter. However, Mr. Hartmann was requested to get his committee together and make a report at the next meeting.

Harry C. Donoho, superintendent of the Free Employment Bureau of Southern California, with headquarters at 207 S. Broadway and 206 Franklin St., gave a very interesting and instructive address on the work the bureau is doing. This bureau is a state institution and stands ready to find positions for the unemployed without any charge to them or any charge to the employer. The telephone numbers of this bureau are Broadway 6624 and Home 10757.

At a preceding meeting of the Chamber of Commerce a motion was adopted providing that a committee be appointed to inquire into the feasibility of conducting a municipal gas plant in Glendale. As members of this committee the president appointed S. A. Davis, W. B. Hartmann and Clyde C. Downing.

The meeting was full of interest from beginning to close and the attendance, although not large, was composed of those who are vitally interested in the welfare of Glendale.

"Many of the women workers in England are now wearing trousers. Women who were called on to do the work of men on the farms were the first to adopt masculine dress and women working in munition plants were quick to follow their lead.

You Don't Have to Wait for Your Pass-Book

The President

"You don't find out monthly statements is one of the best moves this bank ever made."

The Bookkeeper

"Great stuff! No more balancing pass books. I can keep every account up to date all the time."

The Depositor

"Fine! This statement handed me once a month with my cancelled checks tells me just how my account stands. This is Real Bank Service—has the pass book beat a mile."

You do not need to leave your pass-book (your only receipt for deposits) with this bank and wait a day or more at the last of every month in order to find out how your account stands.

Instead, a neatly-printed, machine-figured statement of your checks and deposits, and the balance of your account is ready for you each month.

This improved service is made possible by the Burroughs Book-keeping Machine which is used in our accounting department.

The machine keeps every depositor's account figured right up to date all the time. If you ever want a statement in a hurry, we can give it to you inside of five minutes. Moreover it is absolutely accurate, as the machine never makes a mistake in figuring.

We are sure that you will find this Monthly Statement System less burdensome, more accurate, and far more satisfactory than the method of balancing pass-books.

The Miami Power Bicycle was the first successful lightweight introduced to the American cycling public. That the foresight of the Miami Cycle & Manufacturing Company was sound is evidenced by the immediate acceptance of our product by thousands of riders all over the country.

The reason for bringing out the Miami Power Bicycle was to supply a convenient, low-priced and reliable means of traveling anywhere, at the lowest possible cost. To accomplish this, it was necessary to create an entirely new machine. The Miami Power Bicycle is the answer. It is not a motorcycle, although it has some of the features of the heavy machine. Neither is it a pleasure vehicle exclusively.

RELIABILITY FIRST OBJECT—The motor of the Miami Power Bicycle is the result of patient endeavor and thorough experimentation. It does its work silently and effectively. The motor is so constructed as to be uniformly simple to care for and efficient in its operation. Reliability has been the greatest aim. When the motor is properly treated, no trouble will be found with it.

UTILITY IN BUSINESS LIFE—As an aid to business men, the Miami Power Bicycle will be found invaluable. Public service corporations, such as telephone companies, electric roads, messenger service and others of that class, will find it not only the most economical but the most efficient means of locomotion.

The MIAMI is very valuable and is profitable in the advantages of CONVENIENCE, UTILITY and PLEASURE.

IT THEREFORE FOLLOWS that the man whose business requires him to make many calls in the course of a day's work, will find his efficiency greatly increased. For emergency calls for linemen, quick deliveries for merchants, sudden summons for physicians and similar uses, its reliability will commend it beyond any other two-wheeled vehicle.

Call and let us demonstrate what this wonderful machine will do. In the short time we have had the MIAMI agency we have sold and delivered 8 of them, whose owners will gladly recommend them.

It is a pleasure to report that $339 up to date have been subscribed in the debt-raising campaign, all of which except $93.50 has been paid. While we are under a debt of gratitude to a large number of members and friends of the church, none have worked harder and none deserve more credit than Mrs. M. N. Barnett and Mrs. J. E. Rockhold, two of the elect women who have stood firm by the church from its beginning. What would some of our churches do without the women?

OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE

By Marion Lehman, Glendale Union High School

One of the most momentous questions confronting the American citizen of today is the vital topic of national defense. The very life of our nation depends upon our ability to successfully resist foreign aggression. We have been victorious in every war which we have fought in the one hundred and forty years of our existence as a nation, but in every war in which we have engaged our men have fought under terrible disadvantages. Because we were not adequately prepared in the War of 1812, three thousand trained Englishmen defeated six thousand of our untrained citizens and burned our capitol, not because our men were not brave as they exhibited the very high-type of courage, but because they were not prepared. Some of our farmer boys fought with pitchforks and old double-barreled shot guns, while those who did have muskets did not have sufficient ammunition to use them. In 1898 in our war with Spain our men were not through training when the war had ended. We would have been in a terrible plight if Spain had not been a weak nation, because we would not have had sufficient men to oppose her. As it was only about four hundred Americans died by Spanish bullets, but great numbers were lost through disease in the concentration camps before they ever reached the front, simply because they were not sufficiently versed in the rudiments of military training to know how to protect themselves against the ravages of disease.

Such theorists as Wm. Jennings Bryan state that "A million men would rise to arms between sunrise and sunset if our nation were in imminent danger from any foreign foe." I have no doubt that these men would take up arms in defense of their country, but to send a mob of untrained citizens, misnamed an army, against the well-trained soldiers of any first class power is cold-blooded, premeditated murder.

Germany or any other first-class nation can land a trained army of nearly one million men upon our shores within thirty days and after this initial force had arrived she could continue to send reinforcements to the number of four million men. Against this vast host we could muster only sixty thousand militiamen and our regular army, only thirty thousand of which are in the U. S. and these are scattered among every state in the union, making in the words of Major-general Wood, "Not an army but merely a military assemblage." Thus you see that the pitiful force which we could muster would be swept like chaff before the wind. After our puny army had been disposed of it would be easy to seize New York and the adjacent territory which is the most populous section of the United States and where also nearly all of the powder plants are situated. With the munition plants in the possession of the enemy the U. S. would be at Germany's mercy and the freedom which we prize so highly would be at an end. This cannot and will not happen if we are adequately prepared to meet any eventuality.

The Chinese policy of "peace at any price" if universally adopted by the American people will be the death knell of our national honor. Perhaps like Chinese parents you did not raise your boy to be a soldier, but did you raise him to be a slave as the Chinese boys are slave to the Japanese? Which would you prefer him to be, a soldier or a slave? As for myself, I agree with Patrick Henry, "Give me liberty or give me death." Although it is terrible to lead men up though it is terrible to lead men up to the red mouths of the cannon to serve as fodder for those huge engines of destruction, yet it is preferable to the sully of our honor, the most valuable thing we possess, dearer to us than life itself.

Switzerland, a little democracy of four million people has a trained army three hundred thousand strong, while the U. S. has a trained army of only eighty-five thousand men, fifty-five thousand of which are in Alaska and our island possessions, and only thirty thousand are in the U. S., and these are scattered among every state in the union. Think of it. A little country like Switzerland, only 1-225th as large, and having a population only 1-25th as great as that of the U. S., has a trained army nearly four times as large as ours. America, the nation that has produced a Washington, a Jefferson, an Abraham Lincoln, and countless other men, among the greatest that the world has ever seen, and with the memory of the victories of our forefathers upon the blood-soaked field of Gettysburg, still vivid in our minds, to be surpassed in patriotism by little Switzerland. Are the Americans of today not equal to the Americans of yesterday, or are they merely unconscious of the words of our immortal Washington, "In time of peace prepare for war." Are the Americans of today equal to those who fought and bled and died with Washington that they might hand down to posterity that greatest of all blessings, freedom? Are they equal to those men who pushed forward our boundaries from a small cluster of thirteen disunited states upon the Atlantic seaboard to the grand and glorious republic that now extends from ocean to ocean, and from Canada to the gulf, embracing a territory of over three million square miles, with a population of one hundred million, the wealthiest nation upon the face of the globe, Germany having an estimated national wealth of sixty-five billion dollars, Great Britain eighty-five billion dollars, and the U. S. having an estimated national wealth of one hundred and fifty billion dollars. Should the grandest republic that he world has ever seen be surpassed in patriotism by little Switzerland? It is enough to make every real patriotic red-blooded American blush for shame.

The plan which I propose for adequate national defense is a navy, second to none, efficient in all branches of the service, including scout cruisers, torpedo boats, submarines, transports and colliers. The establishment of a new naval academy, modeled after Annapolis, to be situated at New Orleans, and the enlargement of the naval training school at Lake Bluffs on beautiful Lake Michigan. Our battleship fleet should extend the commerce of the nation and pay the cost of their upkeep in times of peace by trading with foreign countries. This has been successfully done by several ships of our navy, among them the battleship Louisiana.

My plan calls for increasing the aviation corps at least one thousand per cent, as it is at present composed of only one dirigible and nineteen aeroplanes, compared with France's fifteen dirigibles and eight hundred aeroplanes. America, the birthplace of aviation, has only nineteen aeroplanes to the eight hundred aeroplanes of France. We style ourselves the most progressive nation in the world, yet these figures show how greatly we are outnumbered in aeroplanes by France, a nation not as large as Texas, which is only one of the vast coalition of states composing the mighty realm under the stars and stripes.

The regular army should be increased to two hundred and fifty thousand men, and four war colleges modeled after West Point should be established in all four sections of the U. S., north, south, east and west. There are millions of acres of deserts in the U. S. and millions of acres of swamp land in the sunny south waiting for the magic touch of the plow to ripen into fields of golden grain. Upon this waste area, in accordance with the plan of George H. Maxwell, I propose to gradually establish from one to three million poor American families, the heads of which are to till the soil given them by the government, for ten months of the year and the remaining two months are to be spent in hard military drill. In compensation for their labor they are to receive the land they occupy upon the expiration of their three to five-year term of service. In order to aid these families I propose that the government of the U. S. loan each man a sum of money sufficient to enable him to supply the necessities of his family and to till his land until it is producing. This has successfully been done by the governments of Canada and Australia, which give each new settler a section of land and loan him three thousand dollars in cash. Imagine what a boon this would be to the numerous and starving army of the nation's unemployed. It would give each man a chance to start life anew and to be a benefit and a credit to his country. Think of the great benefits the nation would derive from this plan, which would yield adequate protection against foreign aggression as well as vital internal development, which is a prime requisite to the progress of any nation. Rome fell, partly because of the lack of a numerous farming class which were decreased in numbers by the incessant warfare with various nations.

In order to raise the funds immediately necessary to put this enterprise into effect, I propose the issuance of one billion dollars in national defense currency, and the issuance of one billion dollars in national defense bonds payable in twenty-five years. The national defense currency may gradually be recalled, but I think it would be better to keep it in circulation as a memento of our patriotism to posterity. It is a great deal better to spend this sum in preparing than to spend many times this amount in building up the nation after a devastating war that would never have occurred if we were prepared to resist a foreign enemy. The saying is true that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

In case of war, if this plan is adopted, our first line of defense will be our navy. It is improbable that this will be defeated, but supposing that it is. By that time our regular army would be mustered and could stand the first shock of the war until the citizen soldiery was mobilized. When these trained millions of citizen soldiers had taken their guns from the racks and had marched to meet the enemy, like the Minute men of '76, nothing could withstand the courage of these patriots, fighting for their homes, liberties and country that is so dear to them. They would sweep the soldiers of any foreign nation into the sea, and rid their country of the invader.

The future welfare of our nation depends upon whether we shall prepare against aggression or shall fall prey to the greed of some first-class power. It means shall the American republic fall as did Greece, Carthage, and Rome, or will the free American principles, ideals and doctrines be handed down as a heritage to future generations. It means shall the na-

STATEMENT TO VOTERS

Thomas McAleer, registrar of voters, Los Angeles county, made the following statement Friday concerning registrations by voters who want to participate in the August primaries:

"Deputies are stationed throughout the county and are supplied with the necessary blanks to register and to make changes in party affiliations. "Any person registering since January 1, 1916, who wishes to state or change his or her party affiliation may apply to any deputy registrar of voters and reregister, and, at the same time sign a statement requesting the first registration to be cancelled.

"A registration made in order to change or state the party affiliation, without signing a statement to cancel the first registration, will be considered a duplicate and the first registration only will be held valid. "It will not be necessary for a person transferring from one precinct to another, and at the same time stating or changing the party affiliation to sign a statement requesting the first registration to be cancelled, as the act of transferring is a cancellation of the first registration.

"Any changes in party affiliations in order to vote at the primary election on August 29, 1916, must be made on or before midnight of July 29."

THE HOME LIBRARY

A real library is not merely a room with rows of book-lined shelves, mere books gathered hurriedly and carelessly from all sources, says a writer in Hoggsons Magazine; it is a place where only the best can enter, a holy atmosphere wherein the evil, mean or worthless cannot enter. It is a room where the greatest geniuses and thinkers of the ages come into your presence and talk confidentially and inspiringly with you at your word of command; there is no reserve, no aloofness, nothing but fine, frank companionship in the world of letters.

DRY FEDERATION CAMPAIGN OF GLENDALE

At a meeting held some two weeks ago a committee of seven was appointed to nominate officers and chairmen of committees. This committee has had three meetings and is prepared to report.

There will be a meeting to hear this report next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce on Broadway. Let there be a big gathering of representatives of all the churches and temperance organizations of Glendale. Let us start out in this campaign as though we meant business and victory in making California dry. Dr. Wadsworth, county organizer, will be present to give the campaign a boost.

JULIUS SOPER, Chairman Nominating Committee.

SIERRA PAPER CO.

UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT BRANCH OF CHICAGO HOUSE MAKES VAST PROGRESS

One of the active business houses of Los Angeles and this district which has come to the front in the year is the Sierra Paper company. This is a branch of the J. W. Butler Paper company of Chicago. This concern has nineteen branches, which are to be found all over the west in such places as St. Louis, Kansas City, Dallas, Houston, San Francisco and Seattle.

The Southern California branch, which was organized in Seattle seven years ago, did a fairly good business, but had been showing no increase commensurate with the growth of the city and district. A little more than a year ago F. H. French, who had been in connection with the J. W. Butler company for thirty years and had been in charge of the country sales department there, was put in charge of the Southern California branch. From that time the business began to increase.

Since Mr. French took charge the stock has been increased and business also has increased 100 per cent. This is all the more praiseworthy as there has been a visible slackening in the purchase of paper stock on the part of the smaller printing concerns throughout Southern California on account of the rise in prices due to the war.

During the time that the proprietor of The Glendale Evening News was actively engaged in editing his newspaper in Polo, Ill., he was in intimate business relationship with the J. W. Butler Paper company of Chicago, and was brought in contact with F. H. French, the country sales manager. Until Mr. French's arrival in Los Angeles as manager of the branch there that connection had been lost, but is now happily renewed.

The representatives of the company who reside in Glendale are: A. B. Dunlop, credit manager, S. Jackson street; W. J. Myers, superintendent, S. Jackson street; F. W. Griggs, city salesman, 212 Orange street. These representatives are active all the time under the personal direction of F. H. French, who is general manager and vice president of the concern. C. T. Hockmeyer, formerly manager of the Southern Paper company of Texas, is manager of the coarse paper section, which includes wrapping papers of all kinds and is an important part of the business.

The Sierra Paper company has more than fifty employees in Los Angeles. It has fourteen salesmen who are busy all the time and who are gradually creating a valuable business through this end of the state.

Some of the fine stocks handled by the company are the well-known Brother Jonathan bond. This, in common with other stocks, has risen in price 40 per cent since the war began. The war has also caused a 40 per cent rise in the prices of National Bank bond and American Trust bond, two other fine papers handled by this firm exclusively. There have been similar rises in other papers handled by the Sierra Paper company. The enormous freights and the scarcity of wood pulp continue and it will be some time, even after the war is over, before the prices will readjust themselves.

In spite of these drawbacks, however, the business of the Sierra Paper company continues to grow and a large percentage of increase is noted every month.

This is remarkable, considering the semi-paralysis that has affected certain parts of the printing trade and can only be attributed to the ability and activity of the management.

The Sierra Paper company has the agency for S. D. Warren & Co. and handles their lines of book paper everywhere west of the Ohio. Warren & Co. are the largest manufacturers of book paper in the United States.

There is every reason to believe that after the war is over and the scarcity in paper stocks is a thing of the past that this increasing business will advance by leaps and bounds.

PACIFIC AVENUE READING CIRCLE

The Mothers' Study Reading Circle of the Pacific Avenue school, recently organized, is progressing nicely, five new members having been enrolled at the last meeting. Mesdames Everly, Rames, Warner, Burnham and Durham have joined the circle and the ladies are all enthusiastic about the work. The next meeting will be held at the school Monday forenoon at 11 o'clock and the circle will be conducted by Mrs. C. H. To'l. The ladies are anxious to have a large attendance.

hind the everlasting chewing? How much careful study of civic, political and philanthropic remedies is indulged in by those who chew the rag? We talk and chew about street tree planting, for instance. How many have given the subject any serious study? Do we really know anything about it? Much agitation is periodically started about a city park. Who has carefully investigated the ins and outs of this question, the pros and cons? We chew the rag about vacant lots; how many are bringing their adult brains to bear upon this question? We chew the rag about hard times; we dispense through the schools, churches and fraternal organizations of our city hundreds of dollars per month in charity. How many are studying from the bottom up these problems of unemployed land and unemployed labor? How many of us know what other cities have done and are doing towards the solving of these questions? We chew the rags about unsightly lots, untidy parkings? Who is working out any practical solution?

One learns by the experiences and mistakes of others. Are we thus learning, or are we merely chewing the rag? We chew about the evil consequences of allowing boys to idle on the street corners; do we bestir ourselves, you and I, to substitute pleasant or lucrative employment? We chew about the hardships of the aged poor; have any of us found out what is being done by individuals or organizations elsewhere to find suitable work for the aged poor? We chew about the increasing prices of food stuffs; are we studying out any ways or means of relieving the financial strain thus resulting to those in straightened circumstances? We chew the rag about overflows, washes and river inundations; are we studying each one for ourselves the various solutions suggested? We chew the rag about incompetent officials; are we arming ourselves with better knowledge than they, and fitting ourselves to render superior service to the public, to our neighbors, to the city and the state? We chew the rag about dull times; are we all getting together and studying individually and in cooperation some way of focusing attention upon our city?

We chew the rag about everything in creation. What in the name of goodness do the chewers do beyond chewing? How many people will set themselves to find out what and where and how these and other problems are being solved in other places? How many men and women will quit chewing and start doing?

GLENDALE GARDEN SOCIETY

The Glendale Garden society invites everybody to be present at its next regular meeting, to be held Thursday evening, June 1, at 8 o'clock sharp, in the Chamber of Commerce room, when a talk will be given on "How Philadelphia Makes $28,000 Per Annum Off Its Idle City Lands." Representatives of all Glendale schools, churches, fraternal and other organizations, the city trustees, and members and officials of the Chamber of Commerce, are earnestly asked to be present at this meeting.—MRS.
